

Building a database from source, stocking it with test data, documenting it and provisioning development and test servers from the build

